I polished up the manuscript to the best of my ability. More specifically, I reread and edited the manuscript numerous times while I also used spell checkers and grammar checkers (Google

Docs, etc.) to eliminate all misspelled words and grammar errors. Most importantly, a beta reader (who is a Native English speaker) read the entire manuscript, from the very beginning to the very end, and signed off on it.

Estimated delivery date: 1 month from the day that the request is made to submit the full manuscript (I can submit the full manuscript today, but it is preferable that I read it through just one more time).
